HOW TO FIND WORDS FOR YOUR IDEAS

1. In the index, look up your idea word. If there are subentries, pick the one with the meaning you want.
2. Follow its number into the text and you will find many ways to express your thought.

For additional shades of meaning see other paragraphs in the same part of speech. For different ways of phrasing the idea try terms from other parts of speech and from nearby categories of similar, contrasting, or opposing terms.

Only a true thesaurus such as ROGET'S INTERNATIONAL offers these varied approaches to word-finding.

Among the other long-established features: alphabetically arranged word lists supply the names of things which have no synonyms (measurements, tools, wines, weapons, animals, etc.); terms most frequently used in a given context are in bold type; antonyms are easily located in nearby categories; there is a broad range of foreign, slang, and informal terms, all clearly labeled. This new edition also offers a comprehensive selection of combining forms (prefixes such as cryo- ["cold"] and suffixes such as -lith ["rock" or stone"]), which are the building blocks of vocabulary and, incidentally, common fare in crossword puzzles.

Generations of students, professional writers, editors, speakers, and puzzle enthusiasts have made ROGET'S INTERNATIONAL THESAURUS the most popular word-reference book, next to the dictionary. The Fourth Edition, greatest thesaurus of all, is the indispensable work for everyone who wants to use the English language with clarity and precision.

Robert L. Chapman, the revising editor, was formerly chief reference editor of Funk and Wagnalls, and a supervising editor of the F&W Standard College Dictionary. He is now a professor of English at Drew University, Madison, New Jersey.

THE INTERNATIONAL Thesaurus OF Quotations

Compiled by Rhoda Thomas Tripp

The first book to perform with quotations the service that Roget performs with words and phrases.

This essential reference book for speakers and writers groups quotations for the first time strictly by their meanings, not merely by their key words as most collections do. It contains...

- More than 1,000 subject categories
- 16,000 of the most provocative, witty quotations of the last 2,500 years
- Quotations from six continents
- A unique cross-section of contemporary thought, with more than 6,000 quotations from the present century
- Indexes of categories, key words, and authors
- Complete citations of sources

"Certain to be a major tool, resource, or weapon of speech-writers, essayists, and after-dinner speakers."—The Christian Science Monitor
